

SEADS Spotlight • December 2023–January 2024

Indonesia Can Lead the Way on Ocean-Based Climate Action

Offshore renewable energy development, blue carbon ecosystem protection, and electric ferries serving domestic shipping routes have the potential to significantly reduce emissions.

This article is published in collaboration with Climateworks Centre.

Read More

Southeast Asia's Growth Slows on Weak External Demand

Low demand for manufacturing exports particularly affected more open, bigger, and trade-oriented economies.

This article was first published by BIMP-EAGA.

Read More

Reshaping Climate Narratives: The Power of Solarpunk and Extended Reality

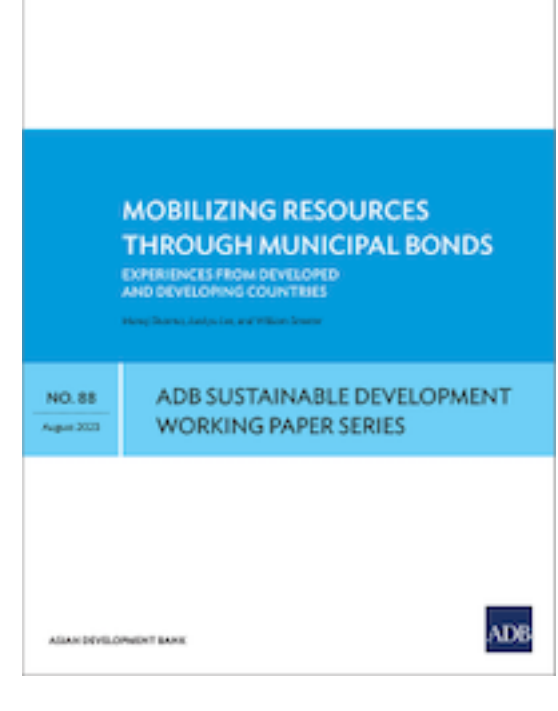

The solarpunk movement and extended reality share a common ethos rooted in the belief that technology can be harnessed for positive change.

This article is published in collaboration with The MeshMinds Foundation.

Read More

Publications

Mobilizing Resources through Municipal Bonds: Experiences from Developed and Developing Countries

This publication examines how to leverage municipal bonds in financing climate-resilient infrastructure and making cities more livable. Download

Blue SEA Finance Hub

This flyer explains how the Asian Development Bank's Blue SEA Finance Hub aims to build a $300-million pipeline of bankable projects by 2024 to help Southeast Asian countries improve the sustainability of the region's oceans and marine ecosystems. Download

